

Regarding the "Do Not Call" rule.

Do not change the protections I receive from Indiana's Telephone Privacy law.

Do not preempt Indiana state Telephone Privacy laws in favor of adopting one lower national standard.

If you do I will receive more unwanted telemarketing calls. I do not want to receive unwanted calls from some companies that I have previously done business with...credit card companies, phone companies, and anybody else that considers me an "existing customer." If I want further services from them, I'll contact them. It shouldn't be the other way around!

Leave Indiana's law alone. We voted for it, we want it. The Federal government should stay out of Indiana's business.

So, to be clear:

The FCC should not implement
any proposal that would lessen
Indiana's Telephone Privacy law
protections.

Indiana's Telephone Privacy law
has improved my time at home--I am no longer afraid to pick up the phone when it rings.

Indiana's Attorney General has taken care of this problem for us, so the FCC would be spending resources needlessly.
